

Hope
by Ethan Zhang

In times of despair and when all seems stark
When the dark clouds blot out the brilliant sun
With gloom penetrating heavy a heart
There appears nowhere to escape or run

But beneath a dismal exterior
Light in Pandora's jar to be cherished
Hope on wings bring feelings much cheerier
A treasure perfect, pure and unblemished

Through dark periods of dull stagnation
And one sometimes feels that they cannot cope
Keep persevering to bring elation
Believe and do not ever give up hope

So when darkness turns the day into night
Keep pushing on and you'll get through the plight